José,

Thank you for contacting Financial Aid and congratulations on your acceptance into Purdue! Unfortunately, as a land-grant based institution, Purdue does not offer need-based financial aid to international students. International Students (students who will enter the United States or remain in the US on non-immigrant visas) may access the Division of Financial Aid web site for more information: <http://www.purdue.edu/dfa/students/prospective/international.html>. You may also visit website of the Office of International Students & Scholars at the following link which has more information related to international students: <http://www.iss.purdue.edu/>.

If you have any additional questions or concerns after reviewing this information, please don't hesitate to email or call.

Best regards,

Sierra, Counselor

Subject: Financial Aid Questions

Good afternoon. I refer to you because the EduPass section of the FinAid division was not very much useful.

I am a Mexican applicant who got accepted into Purdue University.

The thing is that I do not fit in any of the classifications you make of Indiana and US (in general) citizenship.

I am completely Mexican, and looking for some orientation about getting need-based financial aid.

I would really love to study in your institution, but I must be sure you can help me afford it.

Thank you very much.

José Octavio Molina Nava, Tlaxcala, México; accepted applicant.
